Letter from the Dean of the College of Education

Dear Future Teacher,

Welcome to Tusculum University College of Education! Education is a rewarding career, and teaching is among the most important professions in our society. Highly effective teachers create enriching learning environments that provide opportunities for students' intellectual, social, and emotional growth. Every adult can usually point to one or more teachers who made a significant difference in their lives. We strive to deliver a program that will develop your knowledge, skills, and dispositions so you can be the kind of teacher who makes a significant difference in the lives of your students, the kind of teacher who influences the world for generations to come!

Just like any other profession, a teaching career has its challenges. Maintaining a balance between creativity and compliance in an environment of external controls and influences can be difficult. However, great teachers are persistent and find ways to meet their students' needs. Their students are the recipients of a balanced, comprehensive, standards-based program delivered through engaging, differentiated activities.

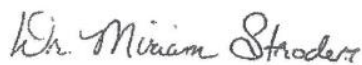

Majoring in education is not an easy route to obtaining a degree. As an applicant, you must meet specific criteria for admittance into the program. Then, as a teacher candidate, you must satisfy requirements at various transition points in the program. In addition to the expectations established by Tusculum University, teacher candidates must also meet expectations of the Tennessee Board of Education, such as the Praxis II exams and edTPA.

Do not be discouraged by the many requirements! You are not alone. You will find support from the faculty and staff in the College of Education. We take our responsibility for teaching and preparing future teachers very seriously.

Remember that the faculty cannot "make you into a teacher." That is beyond our power. We are here to provide opportunities for you to observe, practice, reflect, and connect sequential learning experiences so you leave with a solid foundation for your success as a beginning teacher. Ultimately though, your success depends on you and your investment of time and energy into your education. With your hard work and our support, you have the potential to impact the lives of students and communities in the years ahead.

Again, welcome to the Tusculum University College of Education. We look forward to your involvement in our program. May your road to becoming a teacher be smooth and straight, and your experience be successful and memorable.

Sincerely,

Noncriminal Justice Applicant's Privacy Rights

As an applicant who is the subject of a national fingerprint-based criminal history record check for a noncriminal justice purpose (such as an application for employment or a license, an immigration or naturalization matter, security clearance, or adoption), you have certain rights which are discussed below.

- You must be provided written notification¹ that your fingerprints will be used to check the criminal history records of the FBI.
- You must be provided, and acknowledge receipt of, an adequate Privacy Act Statement when you submit your fingerprints and associated personal information. This Privacy Act Statement should explain the authority for collecting your information and how your information will be used, retained, and shared.²
- If you have a criminal history record, the officials making a determination of your suitability for the employment, license, or other benefits must provide you the opportunity to complete or challenge the accuracy of the information in the record.
- The officials must advise you that the procedures for obtaining a change, correction, or update of your criminal history record are set forth at Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), Section 16.34.
- If you have a criminal history record, you should be afforded a reasonable amount of time to correct or complete the record (or decline to do so) before the officials deny you the employment, license, or other benefit based on information in the criminal history record.³

You have the right to expect the officials receiving the results of the criminal history record check will use it only for authorized purposes and will not retain or disseminate it in violation of federal statute, regulation or executive order, or rule, procedure or standard established by the National Crime Prevention and Privacy Compact Council.⁴

If agency policy permits, officials may provide you with a copy of your FBI criminal history record for review and possible challenge. If agency policy does not permit it to provide you a copy of the record, you may obtain a copy of the record by submitting fingerprints and a fee to the FBI. Information regarding this process may be obtained at <https://www.fbi.gov/services/cjis/identity-history-summary-checks>

If you decide to challenge the accuracy or completeness of your FBI criminal history record, you should send your challenge to the agency that contributed the questioned information to the FBI. Alternatively, you may send your challenge directly to the FBI. The FBI will then forward your challenge to the agency that contributed the questioned information and request the agency to verify or correct the challenged entry. Upon receipt of an official communication from that agency, the FBI will make any necessary changes/corrections to your record in accordance with the information supplied by that agency. (See 28 CFR 16.30 through 16.34.)

Candidate Assistance to Reach Excellence (CARE) Policy & Forms

Candidate Assistance to Reach Excellence (CARE) Policy & Procedures

CARE Procedures

On March 15 2017, the faculty approved the Candidate Assistance to Reach Excellence (CARE) Policy and Procedures which established the CARE Team and Form.

Introduction

The College of Education is responsible for ensuring that its Candidates exhibit the knowledge, skills and dispositions/professionalism outlined in the conceptual framework, state, and national standards, including a commitment to fairness and the belief that all Candidates can learn. Further, as educators, our Candidates must exhibit the highest ethical standards in their role as moral exemplars in the community.

Candidate knowledge and skills are ordinarily assessed in classes, field experiences, and student teaching. These assessment points can be effective in indicating when Candidates are not progressing appropriately through the program.

There are occasionally patterns of observed behaviors that could give rise to a concern that a Candidate's knowledge, skills, dispositions/professionalism are either not sufficiently developed or are inconsistent with those expected of a professional educator. Both the College of Education administration and the Candidate should be made aware of concerns that a Candidate is not meeting the standard of knowledge, skills, or dispositions/professionalism that are expected by the College, and specifically outlined as Student Learning Outcomes or state/national standards. This awareness will be communicated in a manner that is sufficiently formative and allows the Candidate to reflect, consider alternatives and attempt to make any changes necessary consistent with fulfilling their professional career aspirations. The process should be sensitive, transparent, and effective.

There should be provisions so that the faculty and supervisors who work with the Candidate in subsequent semesters are aware of the concerns and the plans developed to address those concerns. There should always be more than one representative of the faculty who agrees that the concerns warrant intervention. This is an internal process managed by an elected Chair and a small ad hoc group of faculty (composition based on candidate's major and faculty knowledge of and experience with the candidate), referred to as the Candidate Assistance to Reach Excellence (CARE) Team. The knowledge, skills, and/or dispositions of concern and plans of action will be documented in behavioral terms in the Team's files. This process in the College of Education is complementary to processes already in place in the University and will focus on the professional preparation of the Candidate.

Two Levels of Formal Intervention

There are two levels of formal intervention.

1. When a Candidate has been reported (CARE Form filed) to the CARE Team Chair by one faculty/supervisor and that faculty/supervisor has not requested a CARE Team Meeting, no action is taken.
2. When a Candidate has been reported (CARE Form filed) to the CARE Team Chair by two faculty/supervisors or in two separate courses for failing to exhibit the knowledge, skills, and/or dispositions of a pre-professional educator, yet neither reporting is of the severity to trigger an immediate meeting of the CARE Team, the following steps will be followed by the Team.
 - a. The CARE Team Chair notifies the Candidate of the noted concern(s).
 - b. The CARE Team Chair selects 2 faculty to serve on the candidate's CARE Team, preferably one currently working with the candidate and one not currently working with the candidate.
 - c. The Candidate is afforded the opportunity to request a meeting with the CARE Team to address the concern.
 - d. The CARE Team Chair notifies the Candidate's current and subsequent faculty of the concern and asks them to monitor the Candidate for the noted concern(s).
 - e. The Team requests feedback from the Candidate's faculty at the close of the current and subsequent semesters and reviews the feedback. Should the Candidate sufficiently address the concern(s), no further action will be taken by the Team. Should the concern(s) remain; a follow up action plan will be developed.
3. For cases where a faculty member or supervisor has a serious concern about the knowledge, skills, dispositions, or professional suitability of a Candidate:
 - a. due to the Candidate's behavior;
 - b. due to the Candidate not satisfactorily completing a field experience, practicum, or student teaching; the concern shall be formally reported to the Dean or designee on the CARE Form, and the CARE Team may be asked by the Dean or designee to convene a CARE Team meeting. The CARE Team will be composed of:
 1. The Team chair/member who serves as convener;
 2. A faculty member working with the Candidate during the term the team is convened;
 3. A faculty member not directly working with the Candidate;

An educator accepts the responsibility to adhere to the highest ethical standards. An educator recognizes the magnitude of the responsibility inherent in the teaching process.  - g. Not use professional relationships with students for private advantage; and
 - h. Not disclose information about students obtained in the course of professional service, unless disclosure serves a compelling professional purpose or is required by law.

Educator's Obligations to the Education Profession

1. The education profession is vested by the public with a trust and responsibility requiring the highest ideals of professional service. In the belief that the quality of the services of the education profession directly influences the nation and its citizens, the educator shall exert every effort to raise professional standards, to promote a climate that encourages the exercise of professional judgment, to achieve conditions which attract persons worthy of the trust to careers in education, and to assist in preventing the practice of the profession by unqualified persons.
2. In fulfillment of this obligation to the profession, an educator shall not:
 - a. Deliberately make a false statement or fail to disclose a material fact related to competency and qualifications in an application for a professional position;
 - b. Misrepresent the educator's professional qualifications;

I hereby promise to abide by this code of ethics as a preservice and inservice teacher.
